For Your Limousine & Hearse Conversions, Insist on The QVM Advantage!

When your standards are high enough to demand a Lincoln Town Car or Ford Excursion for your conversion, don't settle for just any converter. To be sure of getting a conversion that meets our safety standards, look for a Ford Motor Company Qualified Vehicle Modifier (QVM).

The QVM Program represents our proactive approach to helping improve the integrity and quality of Excursion and Town Car conversions. It is an ongoing cooperative effort by which we share our technical expertise on both vehicles with participating coachbuilders, thereby assisting them in meeting all applicable Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards (FMVSS) with their finished products. To show Ford Motor Company's commitment to this process, QVM conversions are provided with an extended limited warranty on major components (see dealer for a copy of the warranty).

What Qualifies a Coachbuilder to Become a QVM? What Does This Mean to You as a QVM Customer?

To qualify as one of our QVMs, a coachbuilder must be successfully evaluated on criteria such as engineering, the manufacturing process, quality control, and adherence to Ford Motor Company guidelines. Specifically, the QVM Program requires the following from coachbuilders:

- Compliance with all applicable FMVSS.
- Conformance with all Ford Motor Company and industry guidelines for vehicle conversions.
- Annual facility inspection and review.
- A commitment to continuous improvement.

Because the Ford Motor Company QVM Program assists approved manufacturers in developing a high-quality conversion process, you can feel confident that the finished product will meet your high expectations. And while we don't actually produce the finished converted product you receive, the Town Car and Excursion chassis and packages that provide the basis for these conversions are specifically designed by Ford Motor Company to meet the unique demands of your industry. After all, our name is on the vehicle. For more information, please check our Web site www.certifiedlimo.com.
